^{*} Delays in finalisation can cause difficulties for students in terms of graduation, application for scholarships and applications to enrol at other institutions.

Note: Lecturers-in-Charge of units should be able to demonstrate in writing to the Head of School or assessment review committee that their assessment components include tasks that fall on the full range of the performance scale that extends from elementary to sophisticated performance.

In undergraduate units that have 30 students or more it is expected that normally no more than 20% of the students would be awarded Distinction and/or High Distinction grades, between 20% and 25% would be awarded Credit grades and up to 15% would be awarded Pass Conceded or Fail grades. The balance would be awarded a Pass grade

In units with fewer than 30 students, Lecturers-in-Charge should be guided by this distribution. In situations where there is a significant deviation from these percentages, the Lecturer-in-Charge should be able to demonstrate to the Head of School, or an assessment review committee established by the Head of School, relevant evidence to substantiate the decision. Where such evidence is not available, grades will be scaled to achieve the expected distribution.

In postgraduate units a higher level of performance would be expected. The Lecturer-in-Charge should be able to demonstrate to the Head of School the appropriateness of the recommended grade distribution.

Pass Conceded

A student may be awarded a Pass Conceded grade by the Head of School in exceptional circumstances. A Pass Conceded grade does not meet prerequisite requirements for enrolment in units requiring a minimum of a pass grade. A Pass Conceded grade may only be redeemable upon the student re-enrolling in the unit in a subsequent semester and attaining a grade of Pass or better. A pass degree student may not accumulate a Pass Conceded grade in units amounting to more than 15% of the total credit points required for completion of the award. A unit in which a Pass Conceded grade has been awarded may not be counted towards the requirements of an Honours year or postgraduate program.
