General Information

This following information is provided as a guide to assist international students who are planning to bring their families to Australia.

It is our experience that students planning to study at ACU Australia as an international student require information about accommodation, childcare, schooling and employment for partners. This guide is designed to provide information, links and resources for all these areas.

Only the legal spouse and dependent children (0-18 years) are eligible to apply to enter Australia on student dependent visas. Dependant visas are applied for in your home country. Details of the application process should be obtained at the time of applying for student visas. The International Student Advisers (ISA) at each campus can provide information and support for students wanting to bring their family over on a dependant visa and general family welfare.

For Australia Awardee students, an ISA can assist you if you need to provide a letter of support for issue of dependant visas to the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP), or if you need confirmation of enrolment (COE) for a school aged child. Information regarding dependant visa conditions and the application process can be found at the Australian Government’s Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP) website.

The cost of supporting a family in Australia is very high and it is important to ensure that you have sufficient funds to support them financially.

You also need to consider how your family will adjust to life in Australia:

- how would the presence of your family impact on your studies?
- how would your family cope with life in Australia?
- can your spouse communicate confidently in English?
- possibly limited employment opportunities for your spouse
- are you the primary carer for your children?
- school or childcare arrangements for your children

You may find it is easier to arrive in Australia first, and to bring your family later, however it is your choice. Some students choose to bring their family with them to avoid visa delays. It is also very important that you declare all family members on your application, even if they do not plan to travel with you to Australia. If you do not do this, your family members will not be eligible for the grant of student visas as your dependants to join you in Australia. Important visa information for bringing your family to Australia can be found on the DIBP website.
By law you must enrol your school age children into school once they reach school starting age.

When choosing a school, many parents ask about:

- the school’s curriculum
- extracurricular activities
- the size of individual classes
- the overall size of the school
- whether there is an English as a Second Language (ESL) program offered
- school fees and any additional costs

You should also consider:

- the distance from the school to the University
- the distance of the school from where you plan to live
- how your children will travel to and from the school.

For further information visit the appropriate state website below:

CHILD CARE

Childcare is expensive and can be difficult to secure. You should start researching childcare options before you arrive. It is more difficult to find places for children under 24 months of age. Places for older children (3 – 5 years old) are easier to obtain.

To learn about the availability and suitability of different childcare options, you need to approach childcare centres directly. Most childcare centres have long waiting lists, so you might want to register on several waiting lists. Some centres charge an application fee.

My Child is the Australian Government portal to Childcare. This website will allow you to search for child care centres in your local area and obtain information regarding services, vacancy and fees.

LOCAL COUNCILS

In Australia there are three tiers of government – federal (or national), state, and local. The local government comprises a series of councils or municipalities that provide services and facilities to local residents. It is a good idea to check which council or shire you are living in. You can contact the council for a new resident’s information pack, visit a customer service centre, or check online as to what services and resources are available to you as a parent.

To find out what council area you live in, visit the appropriate website below:

Councils offer a wide range of information for families, such as:

- community childcare and family day care
- book and toy libraries
- school holiday programs
- parks, gardens, playgrounds, festivals and events
- community-based mothers groups/supported play groups
Children in the ACT can start primary school at the beginning of the school year if they are five or turn five on or before 30 April in that year. It is compulsory for children to be enrolled in school from age six. For more information about schooling, refer to the ACT Government Schools websites:

www.det.act.gov.au/school_education/international_students

The ACT Government tuition and administration fees for the dependants of international students, vary depending on their visa.

Childcare/Preschools

Depending on the childcare centre, they will be able to care for children between the ages of six weeks and five years. Fees associated with childcare can be expensive so it is important to look around. You may wish to also consider family day care as this can sometimes be less expensive.

Whatever you decide is best for your family, childcare or family day care, be sure to ask what is provided such as do you need to provide nappies, food, prepared bottle, blankets and so on. Every little thing adds up.

Preschool is the year before your child starts primary school. Some child care centres will have a preschool program. The positive of this is that your child can stay in an environment which is familiar to them; however the downside is that you have to pay child care fees, which can be expensive.

A Preschool is a school which conducts an education program to prepare your child for primary school. To attend preschool your child must be four years of age by 30 April in the year they commence preschool. Be sure to check attendance requirements as these vary for each preschool. For more information about ACT preschools visit the Canberra Public Schools website.

On 1 January 2016 the Federal Government implemented legislation which requires a child to be fully immunised if they are to receive government tax benefits for childcare, preschool and school unless they have a medical exemption.

More information about getting immunised in the ACT visit the ACT Health website.

Dependants of international students are not eligible for free vaccinations, however coverage may be available through your OSHC policy. Please enquire with your OSHC provider.

Conditions of fee exemption for dependant students

Dependants of temporary visa holders who are of school age (P-12) are eligible for an exemption from paying international student school tuition fees in Queensland state schools if they meet the conditions outlined. The exemption only applies for the duration of the main temporary visa holder’s (parents) course of study in Queensland.

Childcare/Kindergarten

Early childhood education and care services enable parents and carers to work, study and take part in community life knowing their child is safe, well cared for and educated by people who share an understanding of their child’s learning and development needs.

Childcare Immunization Requirements

If your child is not up-to-date, the service can choose to:

- refuse enrolment

- conditionally accept enrolment or attendance.

For more information about childcare immunisation requirements in QLD, visit the QLD Government website.
