Establishment:
IRC (previously known as Indigenous Research Advisory Group) was established in 2003 within the context of the University’s Indigenous Education Strategy 2003-2005

Meeting frequency: 2 times per annum

Responsible officer: Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academic)

Administrative support: Executive Officer (Academic Partnerships)

Appointment term for nominated members: normally 2 years; members may be considered for subsequent terms of office.

Terms of Reference:
To debate, advise and make recommendations to the University Research Committee and Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academic), as appropriate, regarding current and emerging issues in relation to Indigenous research, including:
- development, implementation and review of the strategic direction for Indigenous research;
- fostering a culture of Indigenous research and research training across the University;
- increasing Indigenous participation in research;
- University submissions on Indigenous research;
- development programs for staff involved in Indigenous research and/or supervision of Indigenous higher degree research students;
- input, as appropriate, to the University’s Human Research Ethics Committee;
- monitoring Indigenous higher degree research scholarships and the Indigenous Studentship Scheme;
- reporting on the University’s Indigenous research projects and their outputs.

Mode of Operation:
- Membership of the IRC is appointed by the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academic);
- IRC shall have a quorum which is equal to one half of the membership plus one additional member. When members have indicated in advance inability to attend a meeting, the number required for a quorum will be reduced to reflect one half plus one of the members anticipated to attend the meeting, with a minimum quorum of four members;
- IRC may seek information and advice from appropriate experts, who may attend Committee meetings, as required, to assist in the consideration of particular issues relating to Indigenous research;
- IRC shall endeavour to reach decisions by consensus rather than by voting;
- Communications from IRC will include the circulation of draft minutes to its members;
- IRC members will report at each meeting on Faculty/CIER Indigenous research projects, as appropriate.

Review: IRC reviews its procedures as it deems necessary and recommends accordingly to the University Research Committee.
