WHY STUDY THIS PROGRAM?
• Prepare for a range of ACU health sciences undergraduate degrees by developing the content knowledge and language proficiency you need for success.
• Receive support and specific preparation for external English language proficiency tests.
• Develop content knowledge, study skills, assessment experience and English language proficiency.
• Be part of the university community and experience what life is about at ACU.
• Build your knowledge of health sciences terminology and learn how to communicate effectively with health practitioners, patients and their families.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course is for international students who want to pursue academic studies in health sciences. Students will be given the opportunity to develop effective English language communication skills and relevant content knowledge that are needed by health practitioners.

In particular, students will explore:
• the language and terminology of health sciences
• a variety of materials centred around health science content
• cultural awareness and responsiveness
• communication with patients or clients and their relatives
• the Australian health care system, and social determinants of health
• critical thinking and problem solving.

Emphasis will be placed on working independently and as a team member, self-directed study, and building confidence. Students will also receive support and specific preparation for external English language proficiency tests.

COURSE STRUCTURE
Completion of 8 units (80 credit points).
