Clare Carlisle Tresch

King's College London

This book offers a definitive study of the development of Kant's conception of the highest good, from his earliest work, to his dying days. Christopher Insole argues that Kant believes in God, but that Kant is not a Christian, and that this opens up an important and neglected dimension of Western Philosophy.

"A magisterial study of Kant's inseparable philosophy of religion and moral philosophy. This book is a landmark."
Paul Guyer, Brown University

All are welcome at this launch event: come along, hear about a new book, meet new people, and help us celebrate the launch!
