CHANGING THE FOCUS TO VALUE

PROGRAM OVERVIEW - 2 DAYS

Negotiation is a vital skill needed to achieve results in a range of business interactions. When you understand how to effectively negotiate, you can plan and achieve better outcomes in every situation.

One of the greatest challenges in negotiation is how to achieve desired outcomes while still maintaining sustainable working relationships. This program introduces a proven and practical approach to achieve these two objectives.

ACU's Negotiation Leadership program will strengthen your negotiation skills by helping you focus on the preparation, the process, the people and the post negotiation analysis to develop creative solutions, stronger relationships and better deals.

The program is unique for five reasons:

- Our emphasis on how to shift the focus onto value and maintain effective relationships.
- We utilise the Harvard negotiation best practices model.
- Facilitator, Stephen Kozicki, is an internationally renowned negotiation expert, author, facilitator and coach.

- Our applied learning model - work on your negotiation project and develop an action plan specific to your needs.
- You complete an online assessment and receive a personal report on your individual negotiation style and how to adapt this style in different situations.

NEGOTIATING WITH STYLE® PROFILE

Negotiating requires parties to interact and communicate. However, there can be a dramatic difference between how the parties within the negotiation do this. We can better manage these differences when we understand how people use different negotiating styles.

The Negotiating With Style® profile was researched and created to allow you to understand yourself and then others. It illustrates your perception of your negotiation preferences. With this tool you can learn to be flexible in your style for each future negotiation. Deciding which style is fitting for a negotiation will depend on the context of the situation.

“Stephen’s real world examples were great as well as his ability to make me challenge my own thoughts.”
