

Help shape better mental health support in Queensland

Take part in a study exploring what good mental health support could look like for children affected by trauma.

Who can participate?

Young adults (18–25) with experience of childhood trauma

Parents/caragers of a child or young person who experienced childhood trauma

Professionals who support the mental health of children and young people affected by childhood trauma

What's involved?

A 1-hour focus group or interview

Share your ideas about how support can be improved in Queensland

Help inform the development of a stronger, more trauma-informed mental health system for children and young people

Register your interest

See post for more details

Contact: lottie.harris@acu.edu.au

Share your experience

Help shape better support

