WHY YOU SHOULD STUDY THIS PROGRAM

With some professions, what you do and how well you do it really matters. The migration profession is one of these. Migration agents help their clients during what is often one of the most important and stressful times in their lives. Migration agents need to have first-class technical skills in finding and applying complex areas of law in a diverse range of circumstances. They also need excellent personal skills in organisation and communication. Our program offers you the opportunity to develop your abilities in all these areas.

THE BIG PICTURE

Migration agents provide critically important services to individuals and their families and corporate/business clients. To do this, agents need to understand the bigger picture – the national and global context in which they work. ACU is a truly national university, with campuses in Rome, North Sydney, Canberra, Melbourne, Blacktown, Brisbane, Adelaide, Strathfield and Ballarat. We maintain connections with more than 200 universities across the world. We have a global outlook and international connections that enable us to harness expertise from all over the globe. You will be learning with the world's best.

IF YOU ARE ALREADY ADMITTED TO PRACTICE AS A BARRISTER OR SOLICITOR

Migration Law is a highly specialised area of practice where the laws, regulations and policies are often subject to rapid and extensive changes. The graduate diploma will enable you to specialise in this complex and challenging field. You can apply for credit in relation to certain units.

APPLICATION AND ADMISSION

Prospective students should apply directly via the ACU website. Recognition of prior learning is available. Entry for non-degree holders with extensive professional experience is possible.
