A culture of life-long learning

By studying at ACU, you'll join a diverse community of students with a range of beliefs, backgrounds and ages. In fact, more than half of our current student cohort are non-school leavers, meaning they have not come to university straight out of high school.

What is a non-school leaver?

You are considered a non-school leaver if it has been more than three years since you completed Year 12, or you are over the age of 21.

Applying to ACU

We know that applying for a uni course can seem a bit confusing at times. So, we've broken it down into three easy steps.

Choose the course you'd like to study, and check the entry requirements

Visit acu.edu.au/courses

View our entry and pathway programs

Visit acu.edu.au/pathways

3.

Apply for your chosen course through UAC, QTAC or VTAC – depending on your location

- UAC (NSW and ACT) at uac.edu.au
- QTAC (Qld) at qtac.edu.au
- VTAC (Vic) at vtac.edu.au
- For select courses, you can apply directly to ACU.

Increase your chances of receiving an offer by including a backup preference with lower entry requirements.

Fees and financial assistance

Fees shouldn't be a barrier to achieving your dreams. We've worked hard to make our fees simple and transparent, with a range of financial assistance options. Visit acu.edu.au/fees

There is also a range of generous government funding initiatives available for students looking to study at ACU.

Embarking on a career change

There's a time in almost everyone's career when things don't seem quite right. Maybe you want to launch or advance your career by upskilling, or you feel the urge to pursue a path more aligned with your passion.

But how do you know if a career change is right for you? And what do you do next?

Is a career change an option?

Don't let fear of change make your decision for you. Career changes are more common than you may think.

Job mobility makes a great deal of sense in today's world, where one graduate can expect to work in 18 jobs and go through six career changes in their lifetime.*

Is a career change for me?

Chieh Huang, an entrepreneur, identifies three things to consider while deciding if a career change is a good idea.

1. Are you still learning? If you're not being given the opportunities to learn, or you simply don't have the care factor to get better at your job, it's time to consider moving on.
2. Trust your gut. If you find yourself waking up in the morning with butterflies in your stomach at the thought of heading to work, there's a good chance your gut is trying to tell you something.
3. Pain shouldn't be a factor. If the problem is short-term, like a boss or a colleague who you don't get along with, or a project that is causing you grief, that's probably not a good reason to change careers. All jobs have pain points.

*McCrindle (2019), 'Gen Z and Gen Alpha Infographic Update'

3 Where do I want to go?

This is the big question. Once you've identified a career change is for you, you need to decide what career you want to change to.

Think about: What do you enjoy? What are you passionate about? What are you good at (or could learn to be good at)? And what do you want a career change to bring to your life?

There are a lot of reasons you may want a change. Maybe you want more money, more independence, more seniority, less stress, a better work/life balance or more purpose. There is no right or wrong choice, it all depends on where you want to go, and why you want to get there.

4 How do you get there?

There are a lot of paths you can take to a new career. You can apply for internships or mentorships, or just take a plunge and apply for jobs.

Most careers, however, require qualifications. Once you've identified your goal – look at what education paths are available to give you the skills and qualifications you need to succeed.

A university degree is an excellent way to learn new skills and gain qualifications vital to many roles.

University is for all

Everyone should have the opportunity to study at university. At ACU, we have initiatives to help students from a range of backgrounds and experiences gain access to uni and thrive during their studies.

Visit acu.edu.au/our-values to learn more.

ABORIGINAL AND TORRES STRAIT ISLANDER STUDENT SUCCESS

We support Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' university journey through entry programs, culturally safe spaces, academic support, scholarships and Away from Base programs.

ACCESS AND DISABILITY SERVICE

At ACU, we are committed to providing a supportive and inclusive environment. We offer support to those with temporary or ongoing mental health or medical conditions, disabilities, neurodivergence, or significant carer responsibilities. Our advisors work with students to help them manage their studies, reflecting our mission to promote equity and accessibility in education.

ACU ALLY NETWORK

The ACU Ally Network is a visible network of staff who support our pastoral commitment to providing a safe, inclusive and respectful university environment for people who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, gender diverse, intersex, queer and asexual (LGBTIQ+).

The network promotes understanding and awareness of LGBTIQ+ issues that affect staff and students.

ACU THRIVE

We are committed to your success and wellbeing from day one. That's why we've specifically designed your first year at ACU to ensure a smooth transition into university life, helping you build confidence and thrive academically, personally and socially. You'll be supported with both independent and collaborative learning, the opportunity to prepare for classes in advance, and receive real support from your teaching staff.

Our thoughtfully designed approach to university focuses on helping you grow without overwhelming you. You'll experience a blend of on campus and online learning, opportunities to assess your progress and seek support when needed, and interactive on-campus classes to connect with other students and make the most of your time on campus.

WIDENING PARTICIPATION PROGRAMS

ACU is committed to increasing the participation of students from under-represented areas in higher education. As part of this mission, we offer widening participation initiatives that focus on students from regional, rural and remote locations, low socioeconomic backgrounds, and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

THE CLEMENTE AUSTRALIA PROGRAM

The Clemente program provides access to university for people aged between 18 and 85 whose education has been disrupted by marginalisation and disadvantage. Within small, collaborative learning groups, Clemente students study towards a Certificate of Liberal Arts. The course aims to develop critical thinking, reflection and questioning skills that encourage students to think differently about themselves and the world around them.

STUDENT VETERAN SERVICES

Empowering veterans and their families to lead successful and rewarding lives after military service is a mission-aligned priority for ACU. We support the continuing education of current serving and ex-serving members of the Australian Defence Force by offering programs and services to help them achieve their educational and vocational ambitions.

We also work with industry partners and government to undertake research focused on improving outcomes for all veterans and their families. Through these activities, ACU has become recognised as the Australian university that is committed to serving those who have served.

Gaining entry to your course

There are many ways you can be assessed for entry to a course at ACU. While each applicant is unique, and your selection rank can be calculated from a variety of factors, below are some of our common admission pathways and entry programs.

ADMISSION PATHWAYS
Year 12 results	Even if you completed Year 12 many years ago, your results will still be valid and can be used to calculate your selection rank. In fact, Year 12 results are valid indefinitely. Whether this result is considered for an offer to a course will depend on whether you have additional qualifications (including other recognised qualifications completed while at school or after school). acu.edu.au/undergraduate-entry-requirements
Vocational Education and Training (VET)	We have a wide range of partnership agreements with TAFE and other vocational education training (VET) providers, which may provide a non-ATAR pathway into an ACU degree and/or credit for your previous studies. If you hold a qualification from another provider, you may still be eligible for entry to ACU. Visit our website to find out more. acu.edu.au/vet
Previous higher education	If you have completed a minimum of two units at another recognised higher education provider, these studies can be used as part of your application to study with us. You will be assigned a selection rank based on this previous study level, duration and your grade point average (GPA). Your selection rank is applied during the admission process. You don't need to fill out any additional forms with us – you simply need to apply via a TAC or directly with ACU. acu.edu.au/undergraduate-entry-requirements
Skills for Tertiary Admissions Test (STAT)	If you are 21 years or older and have no formal education qualification, you should consider sitting the Skills for Tertiary Admissions Test (STAT). The STAT is an aptitude test that helps applicants demonstrate their potential for tertiary study. The test can be a multiple choice test or a written English test, but please note ACU accepts only the multiple choice test results. The test is widely accepted and used by many Australian institutions and a STAT result may improve your chances of selection for your course. Please note: the STAT is only run on specific dates. Please check the schedule to ensure you get your results in time to apply. acu.edu.au/stat
Pathway programs	These include courses such as diplomas and certificates, and can help you into a bachelor's degree when you don't meet the admission requirements. By completing one of our pathway programs in a field similar to the degree you'd like to study at ACU, you may be able to apply for a Commonwealth supported place (CSP), and gain credit towards your ACU degree. For example, our pathway diplomas will allow you to go straight into the second year of the relevant undergraduate degree. acu.edu.au/pathwayprograms
Work and life experience	Your work and life experience can help you gain entry to a university course. To be eligible for a selection rank based on your employment history, you must have been in paid employment for a minimum of six months full-time (or equivalent). This might be continuous employment with one employer, or periods of employment doing the same job with different employers. You will need to provide a statement of service from your employer about the role performed and the length of time you have been employed. If you were self-employed or had periods of self-employment, you must provide a statement from your accountant, solicitor or tax agent confirming the role performed and the duration you were self-employed in this role. acu.edu.au/work-and-life-experience-pathway

Foundation Studies Program (Melbourne, Blacktown and online)	If you haven't got an ATAR, or your ATAR isn't what you were hoping for, don't stress – our Foundation Studies program provides you with another path into university. Develop the skills and confidence to thrive at university and gain guaranteed entry into an ACU undergraduate degree – provided you achieve the grade point average and English proficiency levels required for your chosen degree. This fee-free program will prepare you for study at ACU by immersing you in university life while introducing you to a range of foundation units. You can study this course on campus in Blacktown or Melbourne, fully online, or in a blend of online and on-campus study. acu.edu.au/fs
ENTRY PROGRAMS
Veteran Entry Program (VEP)	If you are a current or former member of the Australian Defence Force (ADF), or a family member of ADF personnel, you may be eligible for ACU's Veteran Entry Program (VEP). We'll assess your service in the military and convert it to a selection rank, so you can gain entry to an ACU program. You may also be eligible for credit towards your university degree through our recognition of prior learning program. Our veteran-focused Townsville Leadership Centre also offers diplomas in entrepreneurship, criminology and business, which can provide a pathway into a university degree. Spouse, partners and children of past and present ADF personnel can apply for the VEP family pathway in recognition of the sacrifices you have made to support your loved one's service. acu.edu.au/veterans
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Admission Process	As an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, you may be eligible to apply for entry to ACU through our specialised admission process, which considers more than just your ATAR. This process involves meeting with a member of an Indigenous Higher Education Unit and a faculty representative to evaluate your potential based on your previous studies, life experiences, and achievements. Most course applications are submitted through the relevant state Tertiary Admissions Centre (UAC, QTAC, or VTAC). For more information, please contact the Indigenous Higher Education Units. acu.edu.au/atsi
Elite Athlete and Performer Program (EAPP)	As an elite athlete or performer, you're always reaching for the top. And we'll help you get there. The Elite Athlete and Performer Program (EAPP) is designed to help you balance elite sporting and performance commitments with your studies and university life. Program benefits include access to priority allocation status for preferential class selection, flexible study options, academic support, financial scholarships, representative subsidies and gym access on eligible campuses. EAPP eligible students also qualify for course entry assistance to study at ACU. Learn more about the EAPP and apply on our website. acu.edu.au/eapp

WHAT IS A SELECTION RANK?

Your selection rank is essentially an entry score – it is calculated by TACs (QTAC, UAC or VTAC) and used to determine if you are eligible for entry to an undergraduate degree. For example, if you have an ATAR or OP from Year 12 studies, your selection rank will be your ATAR/OP combined with any adjustment factors you are eligible for. VET courses, work experience and STAT tests can also be used to calculate a selection rank. Most universities will assess you for entry to a course based on your selection rank. Please note, Year 12 students no longer graduate with OPs in Queensland, but with ATARs – so most documents now only list ATAR requirements.

If you have an OP, you can find OP to ATAR conversion tables on QTAC's website. If you need more help, contact AskACU.

STUDENT MENTORING

Starting university for the first time can be both exciting and overwhelming. First-year commencing students can now start the semester a step ahead with ACU's student mentoring program. Our program is social, informative and accessible for all students.

Student mentors engage with students at our Virtual Welcomes and Getting Started Days, as well as during your first semester of studies. You'll be able to explore common challenges students experience in their first year, find out tips for succeeding at uni, and connect with the ACU community.

We also offer one-on-one support and help you navigate university systems, answer your questions and direct you to further help if you need it.

acu.edu.au/connect2uni

STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Our student associations are run by students, for students, and provide services, activities and representation for you. Each campus has its own student association including First Peoples, postgraduate and international representatives. Involvement in student associations – whether as a member or as a member of the executives, councils and committees – provides great opportunities for leadership development, networking and friendships that will last a lifetime.

acu.edu.au/student-association

STUDENT ACCOMMODATION

Everything about our accommodation is designed to help you make the most of your university experience. Our Residential Life Program helps to create welcoming and enriching communities to ensure each resident feels included. Located near transport links, campuses and social centres, and providing 24/7 support, our residences allow students to find a healthy balance between their studies, fun and relaxation. We also offer a range of accommodation scholarships.
