Acknowledgement of Country

In recognition of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' deep spiritual connection to Country, and in continuing the university's commitment to reconciliation, it is customary to acknowledge Country as we pass through it. We acknowledge and pay our respects to the First Peoples, the Traditional Custodians of the lands and waterways where Australian Catholic University campuses are located, and we thank them for their continued custodianship.

“The environment at ACU is nurturing and caring. The relatively smaller campus is less overwhelming than a larger university campus, which allowed me to feel comfortable. You feel like you belong at ACU. And the staff are incredible; they’re supportive and always willing to answer any questions and provide extra help.”

Our people

Our academics are experts in their fields. They achieve research excellence, are engaged with industry, and are committed teachers and mentors.

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR RACHEL DRYER

Associate Professor Rachel Dryer is the Head of Discipline, Psychology and the Indigenous Perspective Coordinator in the School of Behavioural and Health Sciences at ACU's Strathfield Campus. She is a registered psychologist whose research and teaching expertise are in psychological assessment, health psychology, women's perinatal and postnatal wellbeing, and wellbeing of students with disability in higher education.

Associate Professor Dryer employs both quantitative and qualitative research methodologies in her work and is published in leading international journals. She has also authored and co-authored several book chapters, and her book Pregnancy-related anxiety: Theory, research, and practice was published as part of the Routledge Series in Women's Mental Health. This book examines theoretical, empirical and methodological perspectives regarding pregnancy-related anxiety. She and her research colleagues have also developed the Pregnancy-related Anxiety Scale (PrAS), a psychometrically sound psychological screening test that has now been translated and adapted for use in Germany, Indonesia, Turkey and Ghana.

PROFESSOR MARY RYAN

Professor Mary Ryan is a Professor and Executive Dean of the Faculty of Education and Arts at ACU. She is President of the NSW Council of Deans of Education, sits on the Board of the Australian Council of Deans of Education, and is Chair of the Education Research Council for the Association of Independent Schools of NSW. She is a Principal Fellow of the UK Higher Education Academy and is the recipient of a national citation for outstanding contributions to student learning.

Professor Ryan is currently leading Australian Research Council (ARC)-funded projects in classroom writing and preparing reflexive teachers for diverse classrooms. Her research is in the areas of writing pedagogy and assessment, reflexive writing, teachers' work and professional learning, the enabling and constraining conditions for graduating students to manage the demands of their profession, and reflexive learning and practice.

Professor Ryan has an extensive record of program development, having coordinated undergraduate, postgraduate and higher degree research programs. She regularly provides advice to ministers of education and early childhood across multiple states, as well as to regulatory authorities in education and the Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership.

PROFESSOR ANDREW O'NEIL

Professor Andrew O'Neil is Professor and Executive Dean of the Faculty of Law and Business at ACU. Immediately prior to taking up this role in January 2023, he was Acting Dean of the Graduate Research School and Professor of Political Science at Griffith University. Before entering academia in 2000, and directly after completing his PhD, Andrew worked for Australia's Department of Defence.

Professor O'Neil is the author and co-author of several books and has published his research in a wide variety of scholarly and policy-oriented outlets. Working in teams, he has received competitive grants from multiple funding agencies, including the ARC, for projects examining Indo-Pacific security and geopolitics.

Professor O'Neil has also held external appointments including membership of the ARC College of Experts, TEQSA's Register of Experts, Terrorism (High Risk Offenders) at NSW Department of Communities and Justice, and Chair of the Australian Business Deans Council Research Network. He is currently a Partner Investigator on the ARC's Centre of Excellence for the Elimination of Violence Against Women.

DR PETER IVERS

Dr Peter Ivers is the Postgraduate Course Coordinator and Senior Lecturer in Religious Education in the Faculty of Theology and Philosophy at ACU's Brisbane Campus. He has experience in a variety of leadership roles in different settings.

Before coming to ACU full-time, Dr Ivers was the Assistant Principal (Senior Years) at St Eugene College in the Archdiocese of Brisbane. He also worked for many years as the Assistant Principal (Religious Education). At the diocesan level, he has held senior roles in Brisbane, Rockhampton and Sydney, working both with Catholic schools and in contexts beyond Catholic schools.

Dr Ivers also worked as a sessional lecturer at ACU for a number of years. He has interests in religious education and leadership studies, and a particular interest in online learning platforms.

In 2010, Dr Ivers completed his doctoral studies through the Centre for Innovation in Education at Queensland University of Technology. His doctoral work investigated the emergence of educational discourses on religious education in the Archdiocese of Brisbane between 1984 and 2005.

Our research institutes and centres

At ACU, we embrace the full life cycle of research, from knowledge creation to its translation and application towards real-world outcomes that provide social, cultural and economic benefit.

Grounded in our commitment to the common good, our research institutes and centres seek to create research impact through sustained collaboration and partnerships with industry, government, stakeholders, communities and colleagues in the academy.

INSTITUTE FOR POSITIVE PSYCHOLOGY AND EDUCATION

The Institute for Positive Psychology and Education (IPPE) undertakes research in education, Indigenous education, human motivation and behaviour. We conduct multidisciplinary research to address critical educational and psychosocial issues and translate theory to inform effective policy and practice. Our work demonstrates how individuals, communities and organisations cannot just succeed but flourish and thrive.

acu.edu.au/ippe

INSTITUTE FOR RELIGION AND CRITICAL INQUIRY

The Institute for Religion and Critical Inquiry (IRCI) is a leading centre for the study of religion and theology in its historical and contemporary contexts. Our research comprises three collaborative and interdisciplinary programs: biblical and early Christian studies; medieval and early modern studies; and religion and theology.

acu.edu.au/irci

INSTITUTE FOR LEARNING SCIENCES AND TEACHER EDUCATION

The Institute for Learning Sciences and Teacher Education (ILSTE) undertakes studies in partnership to improve educational outcomes and life chances for all children and young people. Our areas of expertise include data analytics; assessment and learning; critical and creative thinking in STEM; English and literacy education, multimodalities, literacy and gender; teacher education and professional practice; and early childhood futures and digital play.

MARY MACKILLOP INSTITUTE FOR HEALTH RESEARCH

The Mary MacKillop Institute for Health Research (MMIHR) addresses critical public health issues by identifying and responding with innovative programs that work towards better health outcomes in Australia and around the world. The institute comprises three key research programs: exercise and nutrition; behaviour, environment and cognition; and bone health and fractures.

acu.edu.au/mmihhr

INSTITUTE FOR HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences (IHSS) continues our growth in the liberal arts. Spanning history, politics, sociology and literature, the institute's areas of research include gender and women's history; refugees, migration and humanitarian studies; social and political change; British empire and Atlantic world history; Australian colonialism and Indigenous history; political economy; and literary studies.

Postgraduate study pathways

In general, postgraduate study falls into two main categories: coursework and research.

Coursework

- Programs are generally six months to two years full-time (or equivalent part-time).
- You can expect to do classes (including online classes), units and set assessments, similar to an undergraduate degree.
- To apply, you usually need to have completed an undergraduate degree first. However, professional experience can also be considered.
- The graduate certificate, graduate diploma and master's degree are connected and can build on each other.
- If you're considering a master's degree but don't initially qualify, you may be accepted into the graduate certificate or diploma in the same area of study.
- If you choose to study a master's degree but your circumstances change, you may be able to exit the degree early with a graduate certificate or graduate diploma.
- Coursework programs are ideal for gaining new skills and getting ahead in your career.

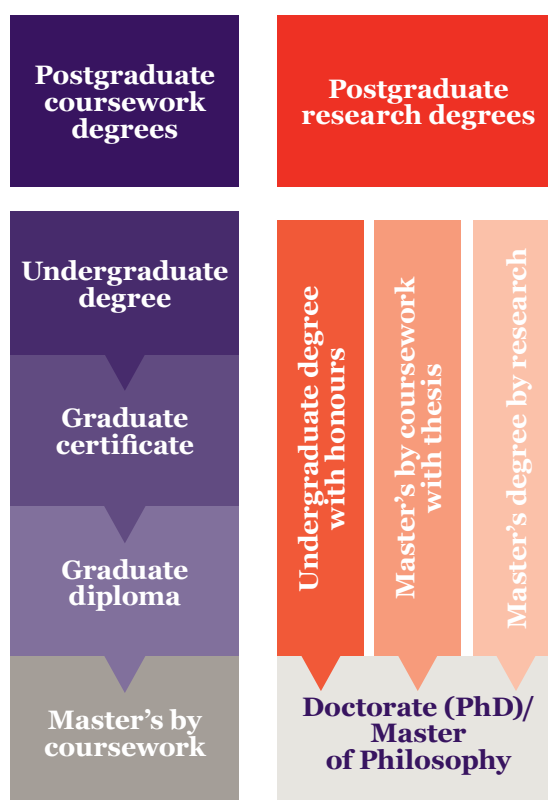

Research

- Programs are generally two to three years full-time (or equivalent part-time).
- You can expect to do independent research and explore original ideas under the guidance of a supervisor.
- To apply, you need to meet the eligibility criteria outlined in the Higher Degree Research Regulations at policies.acu.edu.au/research-regulations
- ACU offers supervised research at either master's or doctoral level.
- Research programs are ideal for making a new contribution to an academic field. They can be a pathway to research or an academic career and are highly regarded by industry, government and not-for-profits.

Pathway to a research degree

Honours degrees are also available. These are one-year degrees for high-achieving students who have already completed a bachelor's degree, and allow you to build upon your knowledge, develop research skills, and work closely with an academic expert. The chief focus of the degree is to produce a research thesis under supervision from experienced academic staff. Some four-year bachelor's programs have honours embedded into the third and fourth years.

EXAMPLE PATHWAYS THROUGH POSTGRADUATE STUDY

Recognition of prior learning

If you're studying at another university and would like to switch to ACU, or you have relevant knowledge and skills acquired in the workplace, you may be able to get credit towards your degree. acu.edu.au/priorlearning

Current or former members of the Australian Defence Force may also be eligible for credit towards an ACU program. We formally recognise the courses you have completed and the rank you achieved during your service. acu.edu.au/veterans

Fees and scholarships

There are many options to help you manage the cost of study. Tuition fees depend on the course you enrol in, and there are two placement offer types: a fee-paying place or a Commonwealth supported place (CSP). Many of our postgraduate coursework degrees now have CSPs available, making study more affordable than ever.

FEE-PAYING PLACE

A fee-paying place is not subsidised by the government, so you pay the full cost of the course. As a domestic fee-paying student, you may be eligible to defer payment of your fees through the FEE-HELP government loan scheme. Repayment of the loan occurs through the tax system once your income exceeds the minimum threshold. Your employer may also consider assisting with the cost of study if the course is related to your current position.

studyassist.gov.au

COMMONWEALTH SUPPORTED PLACE (CSP)

A wide range of postgraduate courses at ACU offer CSPs, where the government pays a proportion of tuition costs. The remainder of the fees are paid by the student, but eligible students can defer their payment through the HECS-HELP government loan scheme. Repayment of the loan occurs through the tax system once your income exceeds the minimum threshold.
